Be-Enter Country. The United States government, it was indicated yesterday in official circles, probably would interpose no obstacles to the return to America of those workers who went to soviet Russia to engage in mining and manufacturing enerprises under the auspices of William

L. Yaywood, a leader in the Industrial Wo.kers of the World movement. An Associated Press dispatch Friday from Reval, Esthonia, said letters received there from the emigrants said they were becoming discouraged and now desired to return to the United States. Officials have gathered from other reports that many of these workers had undergone a change in their admiration of soviet principles, and consequently no great fear is felt that upon their return they would attempt to spread the soviet doctrines.

Memorable Conflict at Gettysburg to Be Reproduced on Fighting Ground.

Critical phases of the battle of Getwar, will be duplicated in the annual field exercises of the Marine Corpe expeditionary forces, beginning June 19. The great charge of Pickett's division on the third day of the battle will be shown in detail by the marines, who will charge over the same ground, July 3, the anniversary of that momentous event. The following day the marines will demonstrate how a modern attack would be made with modern artillery, aeroplanes and tanks against Cemetery Ridge and Little Round Top, pivotal points in the real battle of Gettsburg.

More Than 5,000 Men in Exercise.

More than five thousand marines will take part in the exercises. The force will consist of the Marine Corps east expeditionary force from Quantico, 'reinforced by marine detachments from other stations, and the whole will be commanded by Brig, Gen. Smedley D. Butler, commanding general of the expeditionary force. The exercises will include a journey under field conditions from Quantico to Gettysburg, with parades and reviews in Washington and other cities along the route. It also will include about ten days' battle-practice and maneuvers in the Gettysburg area, which affords unrivaled opportunities for training troops under field conditions. All arms of the service, including aeroplanes, tanks, artillery and machine guns, trench mortars and all of the latest devices in warfare will be represented, including captive balloons, powerful searchlights mounted on trucks and four field radio telegraph outfits as well as one field radiophone. The marine detachment will be accompanied by observers from the Army and Navy and it is possible that a number of the foreign attaches also will make the trip. Arrangments have been so worked out that the cost to the government will be no greater than the cost of maintaining the marines in barracks, except for a small charge for gasoline consumed and tractors used.

Will Assemble at Quantico.

The force participating in the field exercises will be assembled at Quantico. The artillery will leave that post on June 17, camping at Camp Humphreys and reaching Washington on June 19, when they will camp at the Virginia end of the Highway Bridge. The infantry detachment will leave Quantico on barges before daylight June 19 and will reach Washington early in the morning of that day. They will camp in Potomac Park. On the afternoon of June 19, they will be joined by the artillery and will parade in Washington.

The marines will break camp early the next morning and march from Potomac Park, via 17th street to Pennsylvania avenue, then to Wisconsin avenue and out the Rockville pike to Rockville, Md., a distance of seventeen miles, where they will camp for the night.

June 21 the force will march via the Frederickburg road from Rockville to Gaithersburg, a distance of about five miles. At Gaithersburg a halt will be made over June 21 and 22, when exercises will be held and the marines will be given an opportunity to rest and repair machinery for the concluding days' journeys.

June 23 the march will be continued from Gaithersburg to Ridgeville, about fifteen miles. June 24 the march will be on the Frederick road from Ridgeville to Frederick, about sixteen miles. June 25 the distance from Frederick to Thurmont, about seventeen miles, will be covered on the Emmittsburg pike, and on June 26 the same road will be followed over the final nineteen miles to the Gettysburg battlefield.

Continuous Maneuvers.

At Gettysburg maneuvers will be carried on continuously and celebrations and exercises held. July 1 Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pensylvania will deliver an address to the marines and Sunday, July 2, the Bishop of Harrisburg will preside at a special service. Gov. Sproul of Pennsylvania and other notables of the national and state governments have been invited to be present. The exercises will conclude with a grand parade and review about July 5. July 6 the camp will be broken and the return journey commenced. Altogether, it is expected that the force will be occupied in the field exercises for a period of more than three weeks, during which time more than 200 miles will be covered on the march. W. J. BRYAN OFFERS $10 TO TEST PROFESSORS' KNOWLEDGE OF BIBLE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., June 3. -An offer of $10 to each professor at the head of a science department in West Virginia University who will make the same versity who will make the same answers to a set of questions on the Bible as were made by Prof. R. C. Spangler was contained in a letter from William Jennings Bryan to Dr. Spangler, made public here today by the latter.

Mr. Bryan in his letter withdrew the charge he had previously made that Dr. Spangler was guilty of "cowardly evasion" in accepting the commoner's offer to pay $100 to any professor who would show harmony existing between the Bible and evolution, and expressed regret that he had used the words. the words.

After stating that he falt his $100 paid to Dr. Spangler had been well spent because "at least one evolutionist's tongue will be tied in the classroom and among the students," Mr. Bryan made his offer to other members of the university faculty "because I regard this of so much value to the students that I am willing to invest a little more money, if by so doing I can tie a few more tongues."

In reference to Dr. Spangler's assertion that he did not believe he was descended from "the ape of today," Mr. Bryan asked him what animal he preferred as ancestor.

"One man recently told me," the, letter said, "that he would prefer to come from a Jersey cow, if he had to come from any animal, while another, who is fond of hunting, preferred the setter/dog as an ancestor. What is your choice?"
